

Important information about your travel insurance post Brexit.

I'm travelling to another European Union country. Will the Brexit deal affect my insurance policy?

Your MORE THAN insurance policy will remain valid subject to its existing terms and conditions:

Your travel insurance will still cover any medical assistance required, even if there are changes to the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) status. Your cover will still be subject to the normal requirements to disclose any pre-existing medical conditions.

In the case of delay or disruption to travel, you can contact your airline or travel provider. Customers who have purchased an ABTA or ATOL protected trip or have used a credit card or PayPal to make a payment will have additional consumer protection. Your travel insurance policy includes travel delay and disruption cover. The Cancellation, Delay and Missed Departure sections of the MORE THAN policy covers specified perils only, for example poor weather, strike, industrial action or mechanical breakdown. If a delay occurs that is not as a result of any of these reasons, you will not be covered.

Will my European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) card still be valid now that the UK is no longer part of the EU?
